Women Tiring of Contrasting Colors Want More Harmony in Dress—An Expensive Fad as It Necessitates Different Evening Wraps for Each Dress—Three-quarter Length Coats Still the Most Popular—The Three-tier Coat—Try to Cultivate Your Loud, Shriill Voice—Charming Appearance Destroyed Unless Voice Is Properly Modulated—If There Is Too Much Noise About, Do Not Talk.

MORE HARMONY SUCCEEDS SPECTACULAR IN DRESS.

With true fickleness women are already showing signs of tire at the melee of contrasting colors and materials that all this fall have been shown on their different articles of dress. French women of all women in the world believe in the feminine prerogative of changing the mind and indulging themselves in it to their hearts' content. And now that Dame Fashion has just finished decreeing that all should be contrast, women are whimsically shaking their heads and declaring that they wish harmony; they are weary of the spectacular in dress and desire more sameness.

While this latest feminine caprice will probably be felt quite decidedly a few weeks from now when the spring styles begin to appear, just now it is reflected ever so slightly in the present evening wrap. This same evening wrap which in the beginning had such a vivid, definite personality, is slowly but surely merging its own identity, absorbing the hue and general aspect of the gown it covers. Of course this is an expensive fad, as it necessitates a different evening wrap for each gown, but there are various ways in which a woman of comparatively moderate means can manage without any great expenditure of money.

In the first place coat linings are made to correspond with which the gown they are worn. Where formerly the vividness of lining had nothing at all to do with the wrap or the dress now it is being toned down and modulated decidedly to harmonize with the tone of the frock. For instance, where the ample folds of one black velvet wrap fell quite to the feet, the end was caught and held up in the hand, disclosing the doublet or the lining of the same shade material as the dress under it. While this is almost an impossibility for the average woman to affect, it can be done by managing by having detachable linings of the shade of the main evening gown on hand, and these to be attached and taken out as the occasion demands.

Many of the new wraps for afternoon and for evening wear show a tendency to flare about the lower edge. The fur coats, too, the mole-skin and the broadtails as well as the less supple and heavier furs, all reveal this same widening inclination. While they will not be much affected for the winter wear, as most women have all the wraps they intend to get until they begin on their early spring purchases, they will all of them probably show this new wide note in a few weeks from now. The three-quarter length on the whole is the most substantial and the most popular.

The three tier movement in the evening wrap is one which is universally becoming to the slender woman. It fills out the slim lines and gives her the generous, rather sumptuous appearance sought after now. Silk plush makes up well in those three tiered effects. One particularly chic wrap of silk plush of royal blue color had a collar of white fox. At the edge of each tier was heavy white cording. Rhinestone and white velvet made up the front flaps.

CULTIVATE THE VOICE.
It is necessary in these days to keep closer watch on the speaking voice than at any other time probably in the world's history. For the noise of modern traffic, the frequent use of telephones, the babble of the streets, all have a tendency to make the voice shrill.

Too much cannot be said on the necessity of every woman who would be wholly charming giving occasional attention to her voice. For if a voice is not well controlled, properly modulated, nor toned in harmony, it destroys whatever impression is made by her otherwise charming appearance.

Unless one is careful, shrillness becomes a permanent property if the voice, for sound is produced by the vocal chords, which are physical tissues, and as such are readily developed accordingly as they are used.

I know of no more distinct shock than comes from regarding with pleasure a charming woman, and while admiring her, be interrupted by a shrill, a loud, or a coarse voice proceeding from that attractive body. A pleasant picture is dispelled at once. The harmony is gone. It was not a lovely rose that was admired, it was a gaudy sunflower without perfume or sentiment.

So much care is necessary lest the voice play truant that the warning to keep it in close control cannot be too often repeated. If there is too much noise in the street car or motor car to make conversation in a natural tone possible, then do not talk.

Large habits are made up of small ones, and it is easy to acquire that one of assaulting the ears of all who are within range of the voice. Nothing is more lovely in a woman than a soft, expressive voice, and this is one feature of charm that is within the reach of all. Listen to the sound of your own voice occasionally in conversation. Then be your own critical judge. The result will be most beneficial. Analyze your own impressions of those who are speaking in tones which are annoying and contrast these with impressions upon hearing a sweet, well modulated voice, in well chosen words of simple expression.

Remember: That which is repulsive in others is often an unrecognized fault with ourselves.

THROW AWAY YOUR EYE-GLASSES!

A FREE PRESCRIPTION.

You Can Filled and Use at Home
Do you wear glasses? Are you a victim of eye-strain or other eye weaknesses? If so, you will be glad to know that there is real hope for you. Many whose eyes were failing say they have had their eyes restored through the principle of this wonderful free prescription. One man says, after trying it: "I was almost blind; could not see to read at all. Now I can read everything without any glasses and my eyes do not water any more. At night they would pain dreadfully; now they feel fine all the time. It was like a miracle to me." A lady who used it says: "The atmosphere seemed hazy with or without glasses, but after using this prescription for 15 days everything seems clear. I can even read fine print without glasses." It is believed that thousands who wear glasses can now discard them in a reasonable time and multitudes more will be able to strengthen their eyes so as to be spared the trouble and expense of ever getting glasses. Eye troubles of many descriptions may be wonderfully benefited by following the simple rules. Here is the prescription: Go to any drug store and get a bottle of Optona, fill a two-ounce bottle with warm water, drop in one Optona tablet and allow to dissolve. With this liquid, bathe the eyes two to four times daily. You should notice your eyes clear up perceptibly right from the start and inflammation will quickly disappear. If your eyes are bothering you, even a little, take steps to save them now before it is too late. Many hopelessly blind might have been saved if they had cared for their eyes in time.—Advertisement.

FAIR WEATHER IS PREDICTED

Washington, D. C., Dec. 29.—Generally fair weather is predicted for the next few days east of the Rocky mountains and over the southern plateau region. Rains are expected in the southeastern states and probably snows in the middle Atlantic and New England states, upper Ohio valley and lower lake region. The weekly forecast of the weather bureau says: "A disturbance of moderate intensity central over Louisiana, Sunday morning, will advance northeastward and cause rains Monday in the south-eastern states and cloudy weather, and probably snows Monday and Tuesday in the middle Atlantic and New England states, the upper Ohio valley and the lower lake region. With the exception the weather will be fair during the next several days in practically all parts of the country east of the Rocky mountains and over the southern plateau region. Abnormally low pressure over Alaska and the Aleutian islands will cause general rains during the week on the Pacific coast.

The next disturbance to cross the country will appear on the northern Pacific coast Monday and Tuesday, attended by high winds and rains, and across the great central valleys and the eastern states about Thursday and the eastern states about Friday; this disturbance will cause local snows in the northern states. Another disturbance will reach the North Pacific coast about Thursday and prevail over the middle west near the end of the week; this disturbance will be attended by general rains and snows and be followed by decidedly colder weather."

Pass Christian, Miss., Dec. 29.—Although President Wilson is courteously left unmolested by residents of this vicinity, yet hundreds of people in all parts of the country daily are pursuing him through the mails.

The president is devoting much more time than he had expected to correspondence. Dr. Cary Grayson, his physician, today said the president was slowly improving in health, but needed more rest. Accordingly it was stated that hereafter Mr. Wilson will refrain from attempting to answer communications except those of unusual importance. Of these there have been very few. Only letters of an urgent character have been referred to the president by those who are handling his mail.

Among the letters which have been pouring in at Pass Christian are many endorsing various bankers and others for membership in the new federal reserve board. None of these communications will be presented to the president until he returns to the White House.

Washington, Dec. 29.—A verbal will, if made by an Indian, is as good as the most elaborately witnessed and sealed parchment that can be drawn by an attorney, in the opinion of the war department. At any rate the department has just given instructions to an officer in charge of the Apache prisoners of war at Fort Sill, Okla., to turn over the money derived from the sale of an Indian's share in the Apache herd there to the cousin named by the Indian upon his death bed.

The Indian's brother, with whom he was not friendly, sought to claim the estate, but it was shown that the dying man had expressly declared that he did not wish any of his property to go to this brother but bequeathed it to his cousin.

GERMANS CHALLENGE BOSTON FOR RACE

A challenge for another international sonder race for the Germans will be received by the Eastern Yacht Club in a short time. A formal challenge is on the way.

That the Eastern Yacht Club will accept and hold trial races next summer to select a team of three boats to go to Kiel, in 1915, is unquestioned. Among prominent members of the club identified with sonder and who say they will take their craft abroad in case of selection are C. P. Curtis, Guy Lowell and E. A. and R. de B. Boardman.

Although a number of 1913 sonders, built especially for the international series that resulted in the defeat of the visitors, have changed hands within a few weeks, there remain several speedy crafts that could be brought out for the eliminations.

The Harpoon, owned by C. F. Adams and the Chance, Capt. A. Wood, are out of the running, having been sold to members of the Inter-Club Racing Association.

PREPARING FOR THE ANNUAL MEMORIAL

Washington, D. C., Dec. 29.—Elaborate preparations are being made here for the sixteenth annual memorial services to be held at Arlington National cemetery February 15, in honor of the sailors and marines who lost their lives when the United States battleship Maine was blown up in Havana harbor. An appropriate musical program will be given, and many prominent men and women are expected to make addresses.

President Wilson, members of his cabinet, the Cuban minister, Admiral Dewey, and members of the military affairs' committees of the House and Senate have been invited to attend the exercises.

Admiral Sigbee, who commanded the ill-fated Maine, and Father Chadwick, who was its chaplain, are also among the distinguished guests to attend.

DESERTER FAILS TO FOOL EXPERTS

Washington, D. C., Dec. 29.—Burning his finger tips with strong acids failed to enable a deserter from the marine corps to successfully pass the scrutiny of the "finger print" experts when he tried to enlist in the navy. The blurred lines of the finger pads aroused suspicion; a special effort was made to read the lines and in the end the man was identified by comparison with one of the records in the navy department.

ROAD BEGINS TO TRANSFER LINES

Telegraph to Be Changed to Telephone System—400 Frisco Men Laid Off.

Springfield, Mo., Dec. 29.—In anticipation of the strike of 1,100 telegraphers employed on its lines, which probably will be called tomorrow the St. Louis and San Francisco (Frisco) railroad tonight laid off indefinitely 400 telegraphers and began to transfer its telegraph lines into a telephone system of railroad communication.

This action disclosed the company's plans for resisting the strike, to the amazement of the telegraphers, shipers and railroad circles in general. Removal of all telegraphic instruments from the company's offices began today. It is said this is the first time such a transposition of the use of wires has been made by a railroad to avert a strike.

Among those who will leave the service of the Frisco are many who were to present the demands of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers this morning at a conference with the receivers of the road.

Twenty-four Specials Out.

At noon twenty-four special trains, each consisting of an engine, and caboose, went out on the Frisco lines with right of way over all trains, except passengers. The crew of each train removed the instruments from every station it passed and joined the telegraph wires at every mile. Thus 12,000 miles of railroad telegraph lines

DEDICATION OF THE SIXTH WARD CHAPEL

At the dedication of the Sixth ward chapel yesterday afternoon, the following program was rendered:

Prelude.....Ernest F. Oborn
Anthem, "Song of the Redeemed".....Choir

Invocation.....S. G. Dye
Quartet.....William Pickett, Joseph Tracy, Joseph Madison and Gerard Klapp

Address of Welcome.....Bishop O. W. Sanderson

Solo, "Babylon".....Mrs. David Foulger
Instrumental Trio, "Dream of the Mountains".....Axel Nylander, Marcus Critchlow and Verna Van Dyke

Remarks.....President T. B. Evans, Thomas E. McKay, C. C. Richards, Henry W. Gwilliam and Apostle J. E. Talmage.

Anthem, "Beautiful Are Thy Towers".....Choir
Benediction, Patriarch David McKay

The beautiful ward chapel was crowded with members of the ward and all were filled with the spirit of gladness that the occasion made possible.

Following the address of welcome by Bishop Sanderson, the report of the bishopric and building committee was given by Thomas Clarke. The report includes the story of the efforts put forth by the committee to raise the money to pay for the structure and how with the help of the people of the ward and others, they had been able to do so. The building in its present condition cost, according to the report, $25,566.55.

The other speakers congratulated the ward on having reached a good financial basis, and commended the people for their faithfulness in working to accomplish their object.

The principal address was made by Apostle Talmage who said in part: "I am honored in being present with you today in the dedicatory services of this beautiful edifice and in bringing to you, the Saints of the Sixth ward, hearty greetings from the first presidency of the church and the twelve apostles, all of whom rejoice with you in your accomplishments. We rejoice not alone for the building, but for the blessings of having been able to pay for it, for it was not ours until it was fully paid for. God will not accept all gifts that his children offer him; therefore, it is a great thing to be able to feel in our soul that our gift of this building is accepted of the Lord. There are many men who would give if they thought their gifts would be acceptable. The gorgeous temple which David built, sparing nothing in gold, silver, diamonds or other precious things to make it the most elegant structure built, was not accepted of the Lord, because he (David) had not repented and placed himself in a pure condition before the Lord, so that his gift might be acceptable.

"This building has been built by much sacrifice and with the purest of motives in mind. It is therefore acceptable to the Lord. It is, and from this time on we are to be his stewards.

"What is meant by dedicatory service? It is the service of the heart and into the lips, not a mere formality, but a reality. There is a sanctity about the houses of worship of the Latter Day Saints, because of the sacredness of such services. The Lord has manifested from very early times his respect for holy days and places. He commanded: 'Let not a man live who will desecrate my Sabbath;' and on another occasion he said to Moses: 'Remove the shoes from off my feet, for the ground thou standest on is holy ground.'

"We should be very serious and very real about the dedication of a house of the Lord, feeling assured that the gift is accepted. The fact that anything is set apart or singled out from the rest to carry out some purpose of the Lord makes it holy. Of sacred things and sacred places, sacred men and sacred women the Lord is very jealous. Therefore we should enter these sacred halls with pure hearts and hands, that the Holy Spirit may be with us. The Latter Day Saints have always sought to give to the Lord the best they have in their offerings, perhaps not in the most gaudy and showy, but in the most respectful best. The Sabbath day is set apart and singled out for sacred purposes, therefore should be hallowed."

"As the relation between the players and owners is purely contractual, it is readily seen that the commission and board are the only proper bodies for us to appeal to and that had we attempted to get relief from any other source, we would have been decidedly out of order and would very probably have been sidetracked.

"The criticisms is also made that our requests if granted would involve a revision of the National Agreement.

"Nothing of this kind, however, need be involved. As far as we are concerned, the National Agreement may stand just as it is.

Will Consider Demands.
Cincinnati, Dec. 29.—"Mr. Fultz interpretation of article eight, section one of the National agreement is correct and it would have been useless for him to present any matter concerning contracts to the directors of any of the leagues," said Chairman August Herrmann, of the National Commission, tonight. "What the outcome of the deliberations of the Commission will be after hearing the committee from the Baseball Players' Fraternity I cannot say but the committee will be heard and the demands will be given early consideration."

Contract to Hold Tinker.
Chicago, Ill., Dec. 28.—The reserve clause in the players' contract is strong enough to prevent Joseph Tinker and Mordecai Brown going to the Federal league, according to B. B. Johnson, president of the American league, tonight.

Johnson thinks, however, that the league might as well let the two go. He expressed doubt whether the Federal league would be able to get as many big league players as it expected.

CRIME CROWDED INTO FARISS' RECORD

Los Angeles, Dec. 29.—The story of a bad boy, with as much incident as ever was crammed into fiction, was found yesterday in the police record of Ralph Fariss, train robber and murderer at the age of twenty-four.

The end of the story is not yet, because, although Fariss is sentenced to be hanged within ninety days, his crippled father came here yesterday, fainted at the sight of his son, and recovering, began to plead with state officials and influential persons for aid in having the sentence commuted.

Fariss' police career, culminating in the murder of James Montague, who tried to capture him in a train robbery, began as a cheap thief and member of a "gang" in Los Angeles, where he stole a watch in 1905. In 1908 he was arrested in San Francisco in connection with some hotel robberies and sent to a reform school. He was paroled and went to Washington, where, under an alias he again was arrested and committed to a reform school. Again violating his parole he went to Los Angeles and next appeared in a train robbery at Richmond, Cal., which, he says, netted him $400. He took two weeks in getting rid of this sum and then he added Montague's murder to his crime list.

He was in a state of collapse yesterday.
